REPORT

The WWS Under Training Department held the inaugural session of the Expert NXT series on August 30, 2024. This series is designed to foster in-depth discussions and knowledge exchange among experts across various fields. Each session typically centers around a specific theme or topic that addresses current trends, challenges, and innovations. The seminar focused on the intricate interplay between human rights and civilian agitations within the framework of Indian democracy. Given the contemporary landscape of social movements, the discussion was timely and pertinent, addressing the evolving challenges and opportunities within the human rights discourse in India. Mr. Aakar Patel's presentation was both compelling and informative. He elaborated on the dynamics of civilian protests in India, illustrating how grassroots movements have historically been instrumental in shaping policy and legislative changes. Patel emphasized the importance of sustained advocacy and the necessity of strategic alliances among various stakeholders to fortify the human rights framework. The seminar effectively highlighted the critical interplay between human rights and civilian agitations within the framework of Indian democracy. It provided a platform for dialogue, fostering awareness and encouraging action among the participants. The insights shared by Mr. Aakar Patel were particularly impactful, inspiring attendees to consider their roles in advocating for human rights and civic engagement.
