REPORT

Report on Industrial Interaction

An industrial interaction session was organized by the Department of Hotel Management on July 8, 2024, at the NBS Seminar Hall. The session was conducted by Mr. Joseph John, a notable figure in tourism industry & Alumni of the Dept. (2004-2007 Batch). The primary audience for this session was the first-year students of the department. The main objective of the session was to provide the students important insights into the tourism industry, including current trends, challenges and opportunities. It aimed to bridge the gap between academic learning and real-world industry practices. Mr. Joseph John, with his extensive experience in the tourism sector, shared valuable knowledge and practical perceptions. He covered various aspects of the industry, from sustainable tourism practices to innovative strategies for attracting tourists. The first-year students were highly engaged throughout the session. They actively participated in the discussions and Q&A segment, showing keen interest in understanding the practical aspects of their future career. Their enthusiasm and curiosity were evident as they interacted with Mr. John, seeking advice and clarification on various topics. The industrial interaction session by Mr. Joseph John was a resounding success. It provided the students with a comprehensive understanding of the tourism industry and inspired them to think innovatively about their future roles. The Head of the Department of Hotel Management, Prof Robert Fernandez expressed gratitude to Mr. John for sharing his expertise and contributing to the students' learning experience.
