REPORT

On 5 August 2024, NSS volunteers undertook a meaningful environmental initiative by establishing a vegetable garden at St. Mary's L.P. School, East Koratty. The project was launched with the dual objective of promoting sustainable agricultural practices and encouraging schoolchildren to appreciate the value of homegrown produce. With great enthusiasm, the NSS volunteers collaborated with students and teachers to transform a section of the school premises into a thriving garden space.

The activity involved preparing the soil, planting a variety of vegetable saplings, and installing a basic watering system to ensure proper maintenance. It served as a practical, hands-on learning experience for the children, who eagerly participated in every step of the process. Through this initiative, students were introduced to the fundamentals of sustainable farming, the nutritional benefits of fresh vegetables, and the importance of environmental stewardship.

Teachers lauded the initiative, highlighting how such experiential learning opportunities help cultivate eco-consciousness and teamwork from a young age. The garden will now be cared for by the students themselves, fostering a continuous sense of responsibility, cooperation, and respect for nature. This collaborative effort stands as a testament to the positive impact of community engagement and education in shaping responsible future citizens.
