REPORT

The Department of Fashion Designing organized Meraki, a seated assembly programme conducted by the 1 B.Sc. Costume and Fashion Designing students. The students selected International Cancer Day as the theme to create awareness about cancer, its prevention, and its global impact among the student community.

The programme began with the emcee, Rosemary Joy, who formally initiated the session and guided the programme smoothly. This was followed by a prayer by Aneeta A. P and Nivedhya Lakshmanan, setting a calm and respectful tone for the event. The welcome address was delivered by Gaiduangamliu Dangmei, who highlighted the significance of observing International Cancer Day.

A detailed presentation on the theme International Cancer Day was presented by Leena P. P and Kaluangailiu Kamsuan, emphasizing awareness, early detection, prevention, and the importance of support. A quiz competition, conducted by Nivedhya Lakshmanan, was organized for the audience, which included students from the 1st year BSW and 1st year MSW, encouraging active participation and interaction. The programme was evaluated by Mr. Johny, Training Department, and Ms. Sonis Thomas, NAAC Coordinator.

A creative activity without a specific title was conducted, where participants added colourful fingerprints on a pre-drawn tree symbolizing unity, hope, and collective responsibility. The vote of thanks was delivered by Ms Anitta Varghese. The entire stage was managed by Shamnad, with backstage arrangements handled by Akash P. J and Muhammed Aslam. The programme concluded with the National Anthem, marking the successful completion of the event.

Feedback and Scope for Improvement:

Feedback from the audience and evaluators was positive, appreciating the relevance of the theme and student involvement. As a scope for improvement, it was suggested that future programmes could include interactive sessions with medical professionals, visual aids such as short videos, and extended time for audience interaction to enhance awareness and engagement.
